EXERCISE 10

Read the article about green spaces in the city and answer the questions.

Bringing the countryside into the city centre

Most people in the world live in cities. But city life isn't always great – it's often too hot to spend time outside in the summer, there's pollution from traffic and there are signs everywhere saying that people can't ride skateboards or bikes. However, green spaces can bring the countryside into city centres and really make people's lives better.

I played in my local park as a child, but I never thought about how important it was to me. Then, at sixteen, my uncle invited me to stay with him in Valencia during the school holidays and took me to the Jardín del Turia. This amazing park is over seven kilometres long and until 1986 it was just empty land after the river flooded the whole city. It now has space for walking, social areas for chatting and even a playground for kids. You don't have to pay to use it, so everyone can enjoy it. People who live nearby are healthier and happier and love their city park.

I started reading about other exciting green spaces and found the High Line in New York. This was an old railway line, ten metres above the city, and is now a colourful park with flowers and wild areas, and amazing views over the city. The city government was worried it would be expensive to build and no one would use it. However, it was popular from day one. As well as New Yorkers, it attracts thousands of tourists, and the money they spend in the city more than pays for it. Local people work with city gardeners to keep it tidy.

The Underpass Park in Toronto is on land under road bridges, which was covered in rubbish before. You don't see it as you drive past, so it's a special, secret place. It's also peaceful, as you can't hear the traffic above. Because the road gives it a roof, people can use it in all weather and it's lovely and cool in the summer. It doesn't have much natural light, but mirrors on the 'walls' solve this problem. Mainly teenagers use it, and because they feel it's theirs, they know they must keep it clean and they mustn't leave rubbish.

1. What is the writer doing in the first paragraph?

- A. Explaining how his work as an architect helps to make cities better.
- B. Telling people about the dangers of pollution in cities.
- C. Explaining the need for green spaces in cities.
- D. Giving advice to people on how to build new parks in their city.

2. Alan first became interested in parks while he was _____.

- A. visiting a relative
- B. playing in his local park
- C. studying at school
- D. working with his uncle

3. What do we learn about the High Line in New York?

- A. Not many people used it at first.
- B. There are sometimes too many tourists.
- C. It is quite expensive for the city.
- D. People who live nearby help to look after it.

4. How does Alan feel about the Underpass Park?

- A. He is disappointed that it doesn't get much natural light.
- B. He is glad that people of different ages use it.
- C. He is worried that people might leave rubbish there.
- D. He is pleased that people can't see it from the main roads.

5. Which best describes Alan's opinion about green spaces in cities?

- A. They're nice, but they aren't as good as the real countryside.
- B. They are a good way to use empty land and can bring lots of benefits to people.

C. They are expensive to build, and they can cause problems.

D. They make cities look more attractive, but people don't always use them.

EXERCISE 20

Read the passage and do the task below.

San people, a famous tribe from Africa, live in the Kalahari Desert. They are also called the Bushmen of Kalahari or Basarwa. They have been living there for 30,000 years. That makes the San people one of the most ancient races!

About a thousand years ago, another African tribe moved south of Kalahari Desert area. They were surprised to find the San people already living there. The San people did not greet the newcomers with poisoned arrows. Instead, they welcomed them. They taught them how to be successful hunter-gatherers. Other tribes wandered into the area. They all lived together for a long time.

The San people live the same way today as they did thousands of years ago. They are still hunter-gatherers. They camp in one place, and then move on to find food. They know where and when wild plants are ready for harvest. Sometimes they make homes in caves. Sometimes they build huts made of branches and grass. But always, their homes are simple and part of the land.

One of the problems in Africa is droughts. The San try to find water in unusual places. They collect water in plants or in the stomachs of the animals they kill. They store the water they collect in eggshells, so they always have water to drink.

The San people are good storytellers. They tell stories about magical heroes and clever animals. The San people have their own language which includes clicking sounds. Even if you don't understand the language, you can still enjoy the stories because the San are great with the mimics and jests of people and animals.

The San people make their own medicines. They mix berries to make poisons and remedies. They know how to protect themselves from snake bites. They even have a secret substance they put in their campfires to discourage dangerous animals from visiting their camps. Scientists are working with the San people to learn about all these before this knowledge is lost forever.

Decide if the following sentences are True or False.

1. Basarwa is the name of the place where the San people live.
- 2 The San people are one of the oldest tribes.
3. The San people fought with the new tribes who arrived their area.

Read the passage and answer the questions below.

What are summer temperatures like where you live? It's August, so it's foggy degrees Celsius in Beatty town and forty-five degrees Celsius in Death Valley, which is absolutely boiling. When you wake up in the morning, your eyes feel dry and you don't want to move because it's hot.

Some people think it's boring in Death Valley, but I really love outdoor adventures in the desert. We usually go on a camping trip in March or April, when it's cooler than in summer. This year we visited a huge volcano crater, about a kilometre wide. It was amazing, completely different from any other places! They filmed some famous science fiction movies there because it looks like another planet.

The night sky is so clear in the desert that you can see thousands of stars. I wanted to sleep outside, but dad was worried about scorpions, so I couldn't do that. I took some great photos of the Milky Way above us, though.

Did you know that sand can make a noise? On the final day of my trip we visited sand dunes at Mesquite and heard the sound of wind blowing the sand. It was very strange. We also tried sandboarding down the dunes. It's like snowboarding down the mountain, but on the sand. It was my favourite activity on a totally awesome trip.

Questions

1. Miguel says that the temperature _____

- A. is the same in Beatty and Death Valley.
- B. makes you feel tired.

SON DOONG CAVE

Location

Son Doong Cave is located in Son Trach Commune, Bo Trach District, Quang Binh Province, in the heart of Phong Nha - Ke Bang National Park.

Son Doong Cave was first found in 1991 by Ho Khanh, a local man. In 2009, the cave was explored and published by a group of scientists from British Cave Research Association.

The World’s Largest Cave

The cave is about 200m high, 200m wide and at least 8.5km long. With these tremendous dimensions, Son Doong Cave is much larger than Deer Cave belonging to Gunung Mulu National Park in Malaysia (100m high, 90m wide, 2km long), and has replaced Deer Cave to take pole position as the world’s largest cave.

Magnificent Beauty of The Cave

Especially, Son Doong consists of two entrances, which is unique among explored caves in Phong Nha – Ke Bang National Park. Exploring the cave, visitors were surprised with spectacular scenery of numerous stalactites of which some giant stalagmites are more than 70m high. Deep inside the cave exists a grandiose tropical jungle called “Garden of Eden” by the explorers. The jungle is home to a diversified system of fauna and flora. Besides, the cave possesses a 2.5km subterranean river with layers of shells agglomerated in the river bed. Not far from the “Garden of Eden” lies an enormous “pearl collection” consisting of tens of thousands of small stone pieces in dry ponds, contributing to magnificent beauty of the cave.

Travelling abroad: lost and found

Losing something on holiday is never fun. Here, four people tell us their stories about losing something abroad.

A. Darius

One morning, on holiday with my wife, I went down to the pool alone. While I was swimming, I saw that my wedding ring wasn't on my finger. It was in the water! I asked people around me to look for it but none of us could find it. I was afraid to tell my wife, but she was fine about it. She bought me a new ring when we got home.

B. Alice

My family and I were staying at a house in Florida. One morning, I put my phone on top of the car while I was putting my youngest child in his car seat. Then I got into the car and we drove off. Later, I wanted to take photos, but I couldn't find my phone anywhere. I looked in every bag, but it wasn't there! We found it when my husband drove over it. He was parking the car in front of our house and he didn't see it. It was completely broken. I was very upset about it at the time, but we can all laugh about it now.

C. Lucas

I was in Mexico with some friends. We had a fantastic week in Tijuana. On our last day, we left the hotel and got in the car to go home. When we got to security at the border between Mexico and the USA, I couldn't find my passport. We went back to the hotel, but it wasn't there. I couldn't believe it! My friends had jobs to go to so they went home. I went to the US Embassy in Tijuana to get a new passport. It took two days. I wasn't pleased, but I felt worse when I got home and found my lost passport at the bottom of my bag.

EXERCISE 45

Read the passage and answer the questions.

English never stops changing

All languages are in flux. In other words, they are constantly changing. This is especially true of English, which is a real global language. There are now three times more non-native speakers of English than natives. About one billion people speak it as a foreign language, while only 360 million speak it as a mother tongue. So why is English changing and is this a good thing?

One reason is globalisation. Today business meetings can be held with people from all over the world – for example, Brazil, Nigeria and Japan. Nearly always, the only common language spoken will be English. This has led to the creation of a new language variety called International English. It's a kind of English which speakers from all countries can use to talk to each other.

English plays a different role in different countries. In Singapore, Hong Kong and the Philippines, English is spoken as a second language. In the Philippines, Tagalog (the country's main language) and English merge to create a variety called Taglish. But some local languages don't merge with official languages in this way, and they are in danger because fewer people speak them.

The use of slang also changes a language. For example, colloquial terms such as innit? (isn't it?) and like are used so much in contemporary English that they are now a kind of punctuation. But if people use these terms to communicate, maybe they should count as real words.

The fact is that a language evolves because new words are constantly being added to it. Nouns such as emoticon, spam or blog and verbs like google, photoshop or skype have all been introduced into the English language thanks to digital technology, and they will be with us for a long time. There is much discussion about whether these words should be in the dictionary or not – and some new words never make it into dictionaries. But at the same time, some words and languages that have been with us for a long time are disappearing.

Questions

1. Why is English considered to be a global language?

2. How many people speak English as a second language?

3. What is International English?

4. Why are some local languages in danger?

5. How does slang change a language?

THE MOON

The Moon was the first celestial body to be the object of space exploration. It holds the distinctions of being the first remote celestial object to be flown by, orbited, and landed upon by spacecraft, and the only remote celestial object ever to be visited by humans.

In 1959 the Soviets obtained the first images of the far side of the Moon, never previously visible to humans. The U.S. exploration of the Moon began with the Ranger 4 impactor in 1962. Starting in 1966 the Soviets successfully deployed a number of landers to the Moon which were able to obtain data directly from the Moon’s surface; just four months later, Surveyor 1 marked the debut of a successful series of U.S. landers. The Soviet unmanned missions culminated in the Lunokhod program in the early 1970s, which included the first unmanned rovers and also successfully brought lunar soil samples to Earth for study. This marked the first (and to date the only) automated return of extraterrestrial soil samples to Earth. Unmanned exploration of the Moon continues with various nations periodically deploying lunar orbiters, and in 2008 the Indian Moon Impact Probe.

Exploration of the Moon began in 1968 with the Apollo 8 mission that successfully orbited the Moon, the first time any extraterrestrial object was orbited by humans. In 1969, the Apollo 11 mission marked the first time humans set foot upon another world. Manned exploration of the Moon did not continue for long, however. The Apollo 17 mission in 1972 marked the most recent human visit there, and the next, Exploration Mission 2, is due to orbit the Moon in 2021. Robotic missions are still pursued vigorously.

Statements

1. The Moon was the first celestial body to be the object of space exploration.
2. The Soviets obtained the first photos of the far side of the Moon in 1995.
3. Surveyor 1 marked the ending of a successful series of U.S. landers to the moon.

WARREN BUFFETT

Warren Edward Buffett is an American business magnate, investor, and philanthropist. Buffett serves as the Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Berkshire Hathaway. He is considered by some to be one of the most successful investors in the world, and as of August 2017 is the second wealthiest person in the United States, and the fourth wealthiest in the world, with a total net worth of $76.9 billion.

Born in Omaha, Buffett developed an interest in business and investing in his youth, eventually entering the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania in 1947 before transferring and graduating from University of Nebraska-Lincoln at the age of 19. Buffett went on to enroll and graduate from Columbia University where he learned and eventually molded his investment philosophy around a concept pioneered by Benjamin Graham-value investing. He attended New York Institute of Finance to specialize his economics background and soon after began various business partnerships, including one with Graham. After meeting Charlie Munger, Buffett created the Buffett Partnership. His firm would eventually acquire a textile manufacturing firm called Berkshire Hathaway and assume its name to create a diversified holding company.

Buffett is a notable philanthropist, having pledged to give away 99 percent of his fortune to philanthropic causes, primarily via the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. In 2009, with Bill Gates and Mark Zuckerberg, Warren founded The Giving Pledge, whereby billionaires pledge to give away at least half of their fortunes.

He is also active in contributing to political causes, having endorsed Democratic candidate Hillary Clinton in the 2016 U.S. presidential election; he has publicly opposed the policies, actions, and statements of the current U.S. president, Donald Trump.
